

1. Late Kate

Here is a story of a little girl called Kate.

Kate was always late. She was late for school, late for play and late for everything. So her play-mates called her Late Kate.

One day Kate went with her dog, Rover, to play on the sea-shore.

For some time, they played on the sands. She made some sand cakes with her spade. Then she took off her shoes. She called Rover and said, "Sit here, Rover. Look after my shoes. I am going into the water."

She ran across the sands to wade in the sea.

At first, she did not go far into the water. The waves moved up and down. One by one, they came up to her. How happy she was!

But once again she was late. She did not come out of the water in time.

A big wave came up. Before she could go back, it swept her into the sea.

She gave a cry. Rover heard it and began to bark. The brave dog ran into the water and swam out to save her.

When he came up to her, he caught her frock between his teeth and swam back to the shore.

In this way, the brave dog saved Kate.

Kate was never late again.
