

Dear children,

We know that it is an uncertain time but don't lose hope. Stay indoors and stay safe.

Learning beyond the classrooms is what will make you better human beings. What you learn at home are life's lessons and they will help you brighten your future. Help your parents in household chores. Take up simple tasks and become helping hands. Also, obey and respect your parents at all times.

At the same time, don't unlearn what has been taught to you in the past year. Organise your days and work. We suggest making a timetable and allocating time for all things - studying, recreation and other activities. Keep revising mathematical, grammatical and scientific concepts. You will find a lot of practice exercises online for certain subjects as per your class. Download them, rather than wasting time on social networking sites. YouTube is not just about videos and songs but it also hosts a plethora of educational tutorials. The Council's website has a syllabus prescribed for all classes which will help you equip yourself academically.

Also, make use of these days to indulge in good habits and hobbies.

Your busy schedules don't give you the opportunity to hone your skills. Pick up a hobby or better the one you already have. It could be anything from painting to craft, dancing to cooking or writing.

Don't become couch potatoes with a mobile in hand and a television in front. Eat healthy and do some meditation and physical exercises (but indoors).

When we meet on the other side, when all the mayhem has died down, we hope to see a better version of you.

Good luck. Stay safe.
